Former Soviet Leader Dead At 77

Heart Attack Fells Khrushchev

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, 77, a skyrocket in Soviet politics for the 11 years he served as the nation's premier and Communist party leader, died today of a heart attack at his home, unofficial sources reported.

Tass kept silent and there was no announcement from any official quarter.

Khrushchev, who was ousted by the current Kremlin leaders in October 1964, has been living in retirement in a country house outside Moscow.

He was 77 and had a history of heart trouble. The informants were unable to give any details of the former Kremlin leader's death or say whether he had died at home or in a hospital.

Khrushchev, who ruled the Kremlin for 11 years, put his special stamp on Soviet history and left the Russian people better off than he found them.

Living out his old age in disgrace, the ousted premier could take pride—at least privately—in the fact that he reversed the terroristic trends established by Joseph V. Stalin, his predecessor.

And even more dramatic for the rest of the world, it was Khrushchev's reign that saw Soviet cosmonauts orbit the earth and challenged the United States to a race for the moon and other planets.

Khrushchev's flair for publicity and his willingness to travel aboard made him one of the most popular leaders in Soviet history.

When he emerged onto the world scene in 1953, his playful, wart-spotted face and his unpronounceable name were unknown outside the Soviet Union.

But by the time his remarkable career crashed 11 years later he had carved himself a niche in world history.

He rose to rule much of the Communist world, but he couldn't find the formula to hold power in the sprawling, complex Soviet system.

Later another unofficial source reported Khrushchev had died at his dacha around noon Saturday.

Milliken--Democrat Courtship Fades

FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS

LANSING — Gov. William Milliken formally rejected Friday Democratic overtures of further compromise toward putting both property tax relief and graduated income tax issues on the Michigan ballot.

"I do not reject the idea that an appropriate legislative compromise may still be reached," he said in an memorandum to House Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit, and Sen. George Fitzgerald, Senate Democratic leader.

But Milliken said he would stand by an earlier decision to start a petition drive to put property tax relief on the ballot in 1972. He had already announced earlier that his petition drive will not include the graduated income tax. If others want the graduated tax on the ballot, he said, they will have to run their own petition drive to get it there.

CANT WAIT

He said "I concluded that after having worked without success for two years within the legislative process to get property tax reduction on the ballot, and in view of the California court decision on the inequities of property tax as a source of school operating funds, Michigan could no longer wait for its legislature."

He said his plans for a petition campaign are continuing and he believes that is the only way he can be sure proposed property tax cuts are submitted to voters.

"I am opposed to writing a graduated income tax rate into the constitution," he said. "I would not support it, and if it is on the ballot I would campaign against it."

Copies of his reply to the two opposition leaders were made available after Ryan showed it to reporters.

Milliken earlier endorsed a compromise House ballot proposal calling for repeal of the present constitutional prohibition on a graduated tax. It was included in a bill to cut local property taxes down to a maximum of 13 mills for schools.

The bill passed the House with the support of 21 Republicans after Milliken called it an "honorable compromise." It then died in the Senate when Republicans there refused to endorse it.

Milliken said his support of that proposal did not commit him to the graduated income tax because removal of the prohibition would not compel the legislature to write one into law.

OUT MANEUVERED?

At a news conference Friday Milliken said he didn't consider himself outmaneuvered by Ryan on the issue, although that conclusion was expressed by many Republicans.

The speaker also volunteered to supply Democratic votes for a Republican tax issue if Republicans would vote to put a Democratic plan on the ballot.

"When I came into the picture the votes were not there in the House to pass Resolution G," Milliken said. "After I did, the votes were put up by Republicans."

"We had 15 Republican votes before Milliken and 21 afterward," Ryan observed later. "I suppose the governor wants credit for supplying all six."

Milliken admitted that tentative compromise resolution would have expedited action to achieve property tax reform

Long Michigan Budget Battle All But Over

By JACQUELINE KORONA

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Just five months before Gov. William Milliken presents his 1972-73 budget recommendations, the Michigan Legislature is preparing to close the books on 1971-72 spending that could approach 2.07 billion.

The legislature wrapped up budget action in all but the more than $500-million welfare bill Friday and adjourned until Oct. 26.

The gaping hole in the budget paralleled similar action last year, when a battle over $125,000 for the city of Hamtramck stalled final action on a $56 million budget bill at least one month after all others were completed.

BALANCED BUDGET

Milliken told a news conference late Friday he would "prefer" that the legislature complete the budget before adjourning. But he commended lawmakers for action on the remainder of the budget and said he was satisfied that Michigan will "be in a position to have a balanced budget."

Among the spending bills sent to Milliken before the six-week recess began was a state-local revenue sharing measure that includes $23.6 million in new money for local units.

The bill, totaling some $26.6 million when the restricted funds are computed, incorporates a Milliken plan to grant money to local units under a formula including both population and local tax effort. Previously, only population was considered in the per capita distribution formula.

Detroit would receive some $10 million of the new money for a total of $48.4 million.

Grants vary under the measure from a proposed $32.03 per capita for Detroit's 1.5 million residents down to the minimum of $16.50 per capita for the fewest than 9,000 persons in the west Michigan community of

FBI Says Klan Leader Planned New Bus Attack

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI says Michigan Ku Klux Klan leader Robert Miles, arrested in the bombing of ten Pontiac school buses, planned to destroy the rest of the school district's vehicles with mortar shells.

In an affidavit filed Thursday with the U.S. District Court, the FBI said Miles told associates the day before he and five other Klansmen were arrested that he planned to "knock out" a Pontiac power station "as a cover for destroying the rest of the school buses with mortar shells."

It was not clear whether Miles allegedly planned to fire the shells into the school bus parking depot from a mortar, or whether the shells were to be used in another way.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Philip Van Dam indicated discovery of the alleged mortar plot made the FBI move quickly to arrest Miles and the five other men Thursday for the Aug. 30 bus bombing.

Forty-seven school buses parked in the fenced lot near downtown Pontiac escaped damage in the August bombing. Three days after the incident, 44 new buses were delivered to the school district.

The affidavit that revealed the alleged mortar plot was filed in requesting issuance of a search warrant. Van Dam said that he did not know if agents "got what they were looking for."

He gave no indication what that was.

Information on the alleged mortar plot "probably decided us to make the arrests," Van Dam said, although he claimed the government had enough evidence to arrest the six Klansmen before Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days of cabinet-level talks have left the United States and Japan widely separated on strategy for keeping Taiwan in the United Nations, while admitting Red China.

Members of the Japanese cabinet who attended a two-day economic conference with their American counterparts also parried U.S. efforts to bring a major reevaluation of the yen.

Japan demanded elimination of President Nixon's 10 per cent import surcharge, which applies to some 90 per cent of Japanese exports into this country.

The split over China policy took a dramatic turn at two news conferences late Friday.

At the first Secretary of State William P. Rogers said that if Japan failed to cosponsor a resolution keeping Taiwan at the U.N. and adding Red China it would lessen the chances for passage of such a resolution.

Japan's Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda told another news conference about an hour later that he was sure the United States "has an adequate understanding why Japan cannot be a cosponsor of the American resolution."

Fukuda also made his government's views on the China question known to President Nixon at a 40-minute meeting at the White House Treaty Room just before a dinner honoring the Japanese cabinet.

As the Japanese position was being disclosed, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, George Bush, said in Philadelphia that he expected a "very, very close" vote on the China issue next month at the U.N.

The U.S. stand, he said, was for keeping Taiwan in. And "if that means that we might have to let Peking come into the Security Council," he said, "then we will consider that, too."

Magic Evening Nears For All Little Girls

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —

Miss America 1972 will be crowned tonight winding up a pageant marked by protest and nostalgia.

For each of the 50 state beauty queens, it is the magic evening she dreamed of as a little girl. Despite the onslaughts of women's liberation and other protest groups, the beauty contest is expected to draw millions of Americans to their television sets to view the pageant with nostalgia.

In the windup of the preliminary competition Friday night, Miss Kansas, 20-year-old Sandy Rings of Topeka, had some of the audience in tears as she gave her ventriloquist's rendition of "Toyland" and discussed with her dummy the experiences of a girl growing up and leaving her dolls behind.

She was the second ventriloquist to win the talent competition. On Wednesday, Miss Georgia, Cynthia Cook, was the winner with a similar act.

In the swimsuit competition

Laurie Lea Schaefer, Miss Ohio, took the prize. The auburn haired, 22-year-old miss is 5-foot-7 and measures 36-24-34.

There was a third competition in which the girls paraded along the 140-foot runway in the evening gowns. The results of this competition are kept secret.

Miss Schaefer of Bexley, Ohio, said swimsuit competitions made her and the other girls nervous. However, she said, the bathing suit part of the pageant was valuable because it showed how a girl can handle herself in a "slightly embarrassing situation."

The swimsuit presentation has been a major complaint of women's liberation groups that have demonstrated against the pageant. It faced another women's lib protest this year, as well as one by the New Jersey chapter of Vietnam Veterans Against the War.

The city government here has granted permits for both demonstrations, but has also secured a court injunction prohibiting protesters from disrupting the pageant or interfering with the audience as it enters.

Miss Maine, Allyn E. Warner, was one of the other preliminary talent winners, along with Maureen Victoria Wimmer, Miss Pennsylvania. The other swimsuit winners are Miss Virginia, Linda Jean Moyer; Miss Washington, Susan Buckner; and Miss California, Carolyn Jean Stoner.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's latest moon probe crashed into lunar mountains in the Sea of Fertility today and radio contact with the station was cut off, Tass said.

But in London, senior officials said Britain has decided to vote for Red Chinese admission even if it would cost Taiwan's place in the U.N., marking a second major setback for the American stand.

Meanwhile, Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman said in Bangkok, his country will vote to admit Red China, while keeping Taiwan.

President Nixon made no mention of the China problem in a toast he delivered to the Japanese delegation, nor was there mention of it in a seven-page, single-spaced communiqué issued late Friday.

Instead, Nixon stressed that Japan and the United States both recognize that peace in the Pacific is essential to peace in the world and that both governments are determined to maintain peaceful relations.

Nixon Keeping His Game Plan Under Wraps

President Nixon's publicly delivered message to a joint session of Congress is a technique all quarterbacks attempt on the football field. The idea is to line up the offense in a manner to convince the defense, if possible, the play is headed up the middle whereas the quarterback is hoping to execute an outside sweep.

The major surprise expressed by his Congressional audience and one drawing the strongest handclap was his assertion that Uncle Sam must start now to strengthen his position at home and to be less of a Good Fellow abroad.

His call for tax relief repeats prior pleas to the same effect, the one difference being a demand that the White House and Congress develop more permanent revision in the tax structure itself for 1972 and the years following. Tied in to that request was an unspecified method for promoting more jobs.

He laid heavy emphasis on revamping the nation's welfare tangle and drew only partisan applause in his comment that there is no such thing as a mental job, that if work is available, the reliever should stir his stumps to accept it or be dropped from the rolls.

Continued in a shroud was any answer to the question of what happens after the present wage-price freeze.

Nixon gave half a reply in saying he would not continue the freeze beyond its November 14th deadline.

Then he stepped behind the curtain with the cryptic announcement he would not disclose any post-freeze plan until he had consulted the major economic groups, namely, labor, business, farmers and consumers.

Malta and Iceland are two tight little islands that are going all out to annoy the NATO alliance. No one knows how seriously to take the ultimatums and brinkmanship of their newly elected left wing governments. However, if they stick to their guns, the United States may have to quit the Keflavik air base in Iceland. Britain would have to find new ports of call for its ships and planes in the Mediterranean.

From Keflavik, the United States keeps track of Soviet fleet and aircraft movements on the Kola Peninsula and in the Arctic Ocean. The new coalition government announced on July 15 that it wanted to renegotiate Iceland's 1951 defense agreement with the United States.

When the flamboyant Dominic Mintoff became Prime Minister of Malta on June 16, with only a one-man majority in the new Parliament, he said that the defense agreement between Britain and Malta was "no longer in being." Mintoff also set his sights on evicting a NATO naval headquarters on the island. On August 20 it was announced that the NATO facility will be moved to the bigger NATO headquarters in Naples. Meanwhile, Mintoff continues to negotiate with the British for a higher payment for continued presence of a WASHINGTON — Who should pay the mounting cost to curtail airplane hijackings — the airlines and their passengers or you, the taxpayer?

That basic question needs to be faced and answered as the cost of maintaining a 1,500-sky marshall program soars to $37.7 million a year.

The sky marshall program was instituted as a "temporary" means of curtailing air hijackings. But federal officials administering the program say the airlines are doing so little to protect themselves from hijacks that the federal government must continue its "temporary" program if the traveling public is to be protected.

Gen. Benjamin Davis (USAF Ret.), who heads the sky marshall program, has been openly critical of the airlines performance to date.

"If airlines were doing a competent job of screening passengers, we wouldn't need federal marshals flying 'shotgun' on flights," he says.

Why aren't the airlines doing the job?

It appears to be a matter of dollars and cents. Constant use of electronic metal detecting devices requires hiring personnel to use them. Studying the characteristics of people boarding planes to see if any fit the "hijacker profile" takes more employees and more money.

The airlines, say officials familiar with the problem, simply are unwilling to pay the price of good security. And at this point, why should they? The federal government and you, the taxpayer, are picking up the tab — whether you fly or not!

The same problem exists in protection of passenger luggage and air cargo.

Security systems are amazingly lax. That is why theft of air cargo is fast becoming a national scandal.

Businessmen who use air cargo facilities are crying for federal action to combat air thefts.

Yet the same question continues to haunt responsible officials here. Why should the taxpayer foot the bill?

The unpleasant and long-enduring cold sore now, for the first time, seems to be responding to a new form of treatment.

The condition, known as herpes simplex, is caused by a virus. That is about all that has been known about this condition to now.

Dr. Troy D. Felber, at Baylor College of Medicine in Texas, has, with his colleagues, been treating cold sores by first opening the blisters, applying a neutral red dye, and then exposing the cold sore to the heat and light of an ordinary desk lamp.

The results were so dramatic in experimental animals that Dr. Felber decided to treat patients by this method, which is called "photo-inactivation."

Although just why this treatment is successful has not been clearly explained, it has a distinct advantage in producing faster and more effective healing.

Opening lead — queen of clubs.

Here is a well bid hand where South opened with a heart and North responded a spade.

South's leap to four spades indicated willingness to play for game even though the spade response might have been based on only 6 points. By inference, therefore, the spade raise showed about 20 points, counting distribution also.

North consequently recognized that there were big doings in store, considering that he had an opening bid of his own as well as a guaranteed fit in both his long suits. Accordingly, he bid four notrump.

South responded five spades, showing three aces, and North asked for kings by bidding five notrump. When South showed one king by responding six diamonds, North was faced with an important decision.

He knew that South had four spades and at least five hearts, since South had bid hearts first. In addition it seemed highly likely that South had the king of spades, and probably the queen as well, though he could not be 100 per cent sure of either or both.

North concluded that the chance of making a grand slam ranged anywhere from a dead certainty to a finesse at worst, thus making it a worthwhile proposition, and he consequently decided to go all the way.

The only question he had to resolve was whether to play the grand slam in spades or hearts. Quite properly, North chose hearts. His singleton club was likely to be much more valuable with hearts as trump than spades, and in addition his fifth spade was likely to provide a useful discard for South. Accordingly he bid seven hearts, which was easily made.

Seven spades could not have been made, but seven hearts was practically laydown.

Goal Is $591,297

UCF Teams Kickoff Fund Drive Monday

It's kickoff time today for America's college football teams, and Monday will mark the kickoff date for another vital team effort — the start of the 1971 United Community Fund campaign.

Appropriately, the UCF drive this year also is built around a football theme. The total goal for the United Fund appeal is $591,297, but the campaign organization is divided into two sections, the "National Fund League" and the "American Fund League."

The NFL is headed by Dr. Donald Robach and the AFL by Robert Molhoek. The NFL goal has been set at $310,587, while the AFL is striving to reach pledges of $280,710.

There will be a friendly competition among teams in the two divisions to see which group can achieve a higher percentage by the time of the "UCF Super Bowl Game," the final report on Oct. 21. But there is not competition when it comes to the overall objective. Some 1500 United Fund volunteers will be pulling together to raise 1972 operating funds for 56 human care services.

TRAINING ENDS

On Thursday night, UCF training sessions, sponsored by Twin Cities business firms, were concluded at the St. Joseph Elks lodge. Several hundred United Fund campaigners watched a football comedy show, produced and directed by Lee Warnock, built around the successful efforts of the UCF team to overcome the "Poverty Punks."

Stewart E. (Jack) Trefry, UCF campaign chairman who also bears the title of "UCF Super Bowl Commissioner," told the volunteers:

"If we could bottle all the enthusiasm we've seen here tonight, I know we wouldn't have any trouble reaching our goal."

Trefry noted some encouraging signs among early campaign reports. The employees of Midwest Timer Service, Inc., have won the top UCF award, the Fair Share Giving Award, and workers at Hughes Plastics, Inc., have taken the Good Neighbor Award for outstanding increases in giving over the previous year.

Both companies were solicited under the UCF advance campaign, Operation Early Bird, which is slated to conclude its effort within a few days. On Monday, however, the big push begins when UCF solicitations start throughout the Twin Cities area.

STEWART E. TREFRY
Campaign Chairman

Trefry will make three appearances on Monday to explain the goals of the 1971 UCF campaign. At 9:30 a.m., he will be interviewed by Marilyn McKinley on the Betty Dee Show over radio station WSJM. He will appear at 11:05 a.m. over radio station WHFB on the Brunch to Lunch Show, featuring Joann Blake. And at noon, he will speak to members of the Twin Cities Rotary Club at the St. Joseph Elks lodge.

Along with the UCF campaign work, one major United Fund special event will be held next week. On Saturday, Sept. 18, the Glenn Miller Orchestra, directed by star clarinetist Buddy DeFranco, will play at a UCF benefit dance at Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph. It will be the second year in a row that DeFranco and the Miller group have played for UCF. Tickets are available at $5 per person.

GOAL INCREASED

This year's United Fund goal of $591,297 represents an increase of $32,647, or 5.8 per cent, over the amount pledged last year. Trefry emphasizes that an "over the top" effort is vital to meet the needs of UCF agencies in 1972.

Among the local services that benefit from the UCF drive are Berrien County Cancer Services, Maple Grove Center for the retarded, Child and Family Services, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA, Berrien County Red Cross, Salvation Army, Crippled Children's Society, Americanization, Health and Welfare Center, Handicapped Children, Riverwood Mental Health Center and the Community Information and Referral Service.

Although 90 per cent of all funds raised by UCF remain in the Twin Cities area to directly serve local citizens, a number of important state and national agencies also are included in the annual campaign.

Included are Michigan Heart Association, Multiple Sclerosis Society, Hemophilia of Michigan, Arthritis Foundation, Leader Dogs for the Blind, Michigan Diabetes Association, Michigan Epilepsy Center and Association, Michigan Association for Better Hearing and Speech, Michigan Kidney Foundation, United Cerebral Palsy, USO, National Urban League and Travelers Aid Association.

For Township Buildings

Lincoln May Buy Land

Lincoln Township Supervisor Ernest Hauch has disclosed to members of the Lakeshore Chamber of Commerce that the township is tentatively considering the purchase of an 18-acre tract of land as a future site for new township buildings.

He said the Lincoln township library board has been seeking a site for a new building and that the township board has been discussing the possibility of getting a centrally located piece of property that would also provide space for a future new township hall and possibly a fire station. The library presently is in a leased building.

No option has been signed yet, Hauch said Friday, but he indicated the tract under consideration is located at the northeast corner of John Beers and Roosevelt roads, about a mile east of Stevensville.

He said the township board may take action at its meeting next Tuesday night that would lead to a special meeting of the township electorate to buy the property. The tract is owned by Ernest Smith, a former township clerk. It is all vacant land.

The Lakeshore chamber, its membership roll now 90 and almost doubled over its previous figure, also disclosed its own plans Thursday for a new streamlined type of operation.

There will be about four membership meetings a year, Secretary-Manager Tom McGrath explained. Most of the work of the chamber will be done at committee meetings on specific problems or projects between the general membership sessions.

One such committee is a sign committee headed by John Woods and Sam Kielzer. They reported a program to standardize signs of businesses along Red Arrow highway.

McGrath said a "Keys to Business Success Workshop" will have a maximum of 50 on a first come-first serve basis.

Response has been immediate with a score of businessmen signing up the first day, he said. It is scheduled Sept. 22 at the Donald C. Cook Nuclear center at Bridgman.

The all-day program will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. Specialists will cover such items as management qualifications, selection of a location, how to buy a business, financing a new business, how to organize a business, management principles, regulations affecting a business and business taxes and insurance.

The seminar will be presented by the Service Core of Retired Executives (SCORE) of the Small Business Administration.

High School Project

Lutheran Drive Hits $266,357

Contributions pledged to the Michigan Lutheran high school's Project C in the first half of the fund-raising drive stood at $266,357, according to results of a general audit review conference held this week at St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran school, Benton Harbor.

Chairman of the campaign to raise $500,000 for construction of a new high school, said the first phase of the project is nearly complete and a few advance contributions have been received from the second phase.

Beginning with a general inaugural Aug. 19, eight of the 15 high school conference congregations in southwestern Michigan participated in the first phase, and made commitments to date totaling $263,709.

Seven other congregations of Wisconsin synod Lutheran churches in the conference will be participating in the second phase of Project C. Some advance commitments have already been received totaling $1,600, Hinkelman said. The high school students also play an active role by raising $1,048 among themselves.

Pastor Henry T. Peter, chairman of the Southwestern Michigan Lutheran High School association, said additional support will be coming from the congregations that did not participate in the first phase, as well as some that have not made a commitment as yet.

"We will continue our efforts and dedication to the successful conclusion of this worthy project," he stated. Both Pastor Peter and Hinkelman again expressed their gratitude on behalf of the high school for the generous co-operation of all workers on Phase I of the campaign.

Abortion Group Plans Berrien Petition Drive

A petition drive will be started in Berrien county as part of a state-wide movement to get the Legislature to reconsider abortion reform.

Mrs. Kay Kraatz, Berrien county coordinator for the Michigan Coordinating Committee for Abortion Law Reform, said the campaign is public initiative to place abortion reform before the Legislature. The committee seeks 250,000 signatures statewide and 15,000 in Berrien county. Mrs. Kraatz said if a bill is introduced through initiative and fails to pass the Legislature it will be placed on the ballot in November, 1972, for public referendum.

The Senate this year passed an abortion reform bill, but the act was pigeon-holed in the Social Services committee of the House.

Mrs. Kraatz said petitions will be distributed at a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 15, 8 p.m. in at the YWCA, St. Joseph. All persons interested in circulating petitions are asked to attend to receive instructions on how and where to circulate them.

NEW PRINCIPAL: James Thrall, 33, has been hired as the new Fennville high school principal at a salary of $15,000 a year. # Berrien Makes Room For New County Official There'll be some changes made in the county courthouse, St. Joseph, to accommodate the new county coordinator and relocate two other cramped offices.

Olto Grau, chairman of the county board of commissioners' administration committee, Friday outlined for the Berrien county building authority — landlord of the courthouse — office changes expected to be finished by year's end.

The new $18,000-a-year coordinator, who will act as right-hand man to the county board, is Roger W. Petrie. He's scheduled to arrive here from a post as business manager of Waverly school district near Lansing on Sept. 27.

On first floor — This office, Grau said, will be in first-floor space now housing the central duplicating department, which will be shifted to new quarters under construction in the ground floor storage area.

Meanwhile, Grau said, the purchasing office on the ground floor will move to the former fifth district court quarters on the third floor. The present purchasing office space will be taken over by the county clerk's alimony and child support collection office. It's presently housed in the crowded friend of the court's office on second floor.

The child support collection office will have a good used bulletproof bank window, bought from Inter-City Bank for $700, to serve customers inside the

A statement from the committee said: "It is believed that the majority of Michigan's citizens want this issue (abortion) resolved. Abortion is a personal matter. Many people who would not choose abortion for themselves do believe it should be a matter of personal choice for everyone faced with the problem."

The proposed "people's bill" says in its first section: "The People of the State of Michigan Enact: Sec. 1. A licensed medical or osteopathic physician may perform an abortion upon the request of a patient, if the period of gestation has not exceeded 20 weeks. The procedure shall be performed in a licensed hospital or other facility approved by the Department of Public Health."

MILLION MANHOURS: Benton Harbor division employees of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. compiled a safety record as of August 6 of 1,000,000 manhours worked without a disabling injury. ### Special Notices

IMPORTANT NOTICE

We, at the original CUPANER CASA, now located in WATERVLIET, have received many calls pertaining to the Restaurant in the SIXTEN LAKES area that is not for sale, and we want to make it well understood that we are IN NO WAY connected with the Restaurant in the SIXTEN LAKES area. We are NOT a business there in AUGUST 1970, and we only heard of this because of the NAME being the CUPANER CASA THAT WAS FORMALLY LOCATED AT BROADWAY & ELMHURST IN BENTON HARBOR and the products at the SIXTEN LAKES restaurant was NOT the same that is served at the CUPANER CASA IN WATERVLIET! All of the above are answers to the questions that are asked in the many phone calls we get. If interested parties are still confused, please feel free to call BOB OR ANNA at 463-4771 after 5 P.M. and we will be happy to explain in FULL. Thanks Much!

memo to advertisers

NOW YOU SEE IT... NOW YOU DON'T

But pay as though you did?

We don't believe advertisers should have to play guessing games with circulation figures. The facts are too important to the effectiveness of their sales messages and the cost of advertising space.

To eliminate the element of chance, our facts and figures are audited and verified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Through an audit report, ABC tells us and our advertisers exactly how much circulation we have, where it is distributed, what readers pay, and the answers to many other questions about our circulation audience.

Don't guess—ask to see a copy of our latest audit report. Be ABC-sure!

The News-Palladium THE HERALD-PRESS

As a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, our circulation records and practices are subject to the scrutiny of regular field audits and the discipline of ABC-determined standards.
